CEO Statement

Communication, the pillar of professional success

In the realm of professional advancement, the ability to communicate effectively and master your message is a cornerstone of success. As we navigate through an era of rapid change and complex challenges, the importance of honing these skills has never been greater.

Empirical evidence of the value of communication

Research supports this assertion: a 2021 Harvard Business Review study found that companies with high levels of clear and concise communication had a 47% higher return to shareholders over a five-year period than those with less effective communication practices. This correlation between communication skills and business performance illustrates the transformative power of mastering the art of messaging.

Unleash potential by mastering the message

Improving our communication skills is more than a strategic goal; it's a catalyst for unlocking the full potential of our workforce. Research, such as that published in the Journal of Business

Communication in 2022, shows that teams that master effective communication strategies are significantly more innovative and efficient. This direct link between communication mastery and performance excellence underscores the need to invest in our ability to articulate and resonate. By mastering the art of the message, we empower every individual in our organization to contribute to our collective vision and propel us to unparalleled success.

Beyond Information: Crafting Impactful Narratives

It's not just about communicating information, it's about crafting narratives that inspire, influence and drive meaningful action. By committing to raising our communications standards, we unlock the potential not only to advance individual careers, but also to drive the collective success of our organization.

Overview

Why is effective communication a concern for every organization?

Promotes team cohesion: Clear communication builds team unity by aligning goals and minimizing conflict—essential for effective collaboration and trust.

Improves decision making: Effective communication ensures informed decisions by sharing critical information and diverse viewpoints, improving the quality of decisions.

Increase employee engagement: Direct and transparent communication increases employee engagement by making them feel valued and informed about organizational goals.

Drives change management: In change management, clear communication is essential to explain changes, reduce resistance, and facilitate smooth transitions.

Research from the Journal of Applied Psychology shows that organizations with effective communication practices have up to 30% higher employee engagement rates than those without, underscoring the critical role communication plays in fostering a motivated and engaged workforce.

Our Service

How to optimize your impact

Effective communication depends on a concise core message and its effective delivery, influenced by your posture, vocal clarity and expression. Clear articulation of your message ensures that it resonates, while a positive attitude, confident voice and expressive gestures reinforce its reception. This focused approach ensures that your message not only captures attention, but leaves a lasting impression, increasing your influence in any context.

Conquer public speaking: Engage and Persuade

Overcome stage fright by turning preparation and nervous energy into confidence. Effectively connect with your audience through eye contact and storytelling within a structured presentation—beginning with an attention-grabbing introduction, followed by compelling content, and ending with a strong call to action. This approach ensures that your public speaking is not only powerful, but also memorable, enabling you to inspire and influence with ease.

Effective cross-organizational communication

Effective communication of your core message, both internally and externally, is key to organizational coherence and trust. Clear internal communication aligns team efforts and increases efficiency, while external communication strengthens brand identity and customer relationships. In times of crisis, rapid, transparent communication is critical to maintaining trust. Mastering these communication channels ensures organizational resilience and optimizes impact in all scenarios.

Our Team

Our team combines experience, empathy and expertise to master the art of effective dialogue. With a foundation in diverse fields such as communication theory, psychology and rhetoric, our professionals are not only skilled, but deeply committed to improving interactions and understanding. Trust our ability to deliver messages with precision and care, ensuring that every communication is impactful and meaningful.

The essence of effective communication lies in the harmonious blend of communicating your core message within organizations, engaging audiences by overcoming stage fright, and structuring presentations that tell a compelling story.

It's about crafting a narrative that resonates both internally and externally, embodying the confidence to command the stage, and fine-tuning the nuances of delivery through posture, voice, and expression. This triad of skills is critical; it empowers individuals to not only speak, but to speak with influence, ensuring that their message not only lands, but leaves an indelible mark.

Claudia Schick

Claudia, an experienced TV presenter for shows such as ARD Brennpunkt and m€X, also teaches at ifp and is the author of "Voice up", a guide to improving vocal effectiveness.

Laura Baxter

Laura Baxter is a multi-talented artist known for her work as an opera singer, author, director, lecturer and keynote speaker at prestigious conferences.

Regina K. Schüller

Regina Karoline Schüller is an accomplished communicator, providing strategic development through facilitation and consulting, with senior roles at the IFRS Foundation, Deutsche Bank AG and the European Central Bank.

Our Working Process

Discover the transformative power of our communications process, which not only sharpens message clarity and delivery techniques, but also equips you with robust crisis strategies that ensure confidence and effectiveness in every interaction.

Define the core message: We help clients identify and articulate the key points of their message, ensuring it's communicated clearly and effectively.

Improving Delivery Techniques: We explore and implement effective methods of message delivery, ensuring that the client can persuasively make their case.

Refining non-verbal communication: Our approach includes coaching the client to use confident body language and clear vocal delivery to complement their verbal message.

Managing stage fright: We provide strategies to help the client overcome nervousness so they can perform confidently and effectively in front of an audience.

Structuring presentations effectively: We guide clients in organizing their content in a way that captivates, engages, and leads the audience through the presentation.

Incorporate storytelling techniques: We encourage the client to use compelling narratives in their presentation to increase engagement and make the message more relatable and impactful.

Case Study

Mastering the Message is the linchpin of effective communication, empowering individuals to convey ideas with clarity, conviction, and resonance, thereby opening pathways to success in diverse contexts.

Refresh leadership communication skills to improve organizational effectiveness and unity

XYZ Corporation, a global technology company, recognized the need to improve the communication skills of its leadership team in order to drive organizational success.

Despite having talented individuals, there were instances of miscommunication that led to delays in project execution and diminished team cohesion.

Challenges:

The leadership team faced challenges in effectively communicating its vision, aligning strategies, and fostering cross-functional collaboration.

There was a lack of clarity in communication, leading to misunderstandings and inefficiencies.

Approach: To address these challenges, XYZ Corporation partnered with the Coaching Institute Frankfurt to implement the transformative Master Your Message program. This initiative was designed to equip leaders with the essential skills to communicate clearly and effectively, both internally and externally.

Implementation:

- Core Message Clarity
- Delivery Excellence
- Crisis Communication Preparedness

Results:

- Enhanced Clarity
- Increased Engagement
- Improved Crisis Response
